We Are Still Here

As predicted, we are still here. In Evidence News 15 December 2010 we reported a claim made by an organisation called eBible Fellowship that the world would end on 21st May 2011. As we believe the words of Jesus who said that only the Father in Heaven knows when the world will end and no man does, (Matthew 24:36), we therefore predicted the world would not end on 21st May 2011.

We were right. However, since the world will end one day, and we are not told when that will be, make sure you are ready by asking God's forgiveness of your sin, accepting by faith that Christ's death on the cross was just and sufficient punishment for your sin and repent of your sin by turning away from it and become a disciple of Christ the Creator and Saviour whose return will bring about the end of the world.

And never forget God's instruction to us in 1 Thessalonians 5: 20-21 where we are told to not despise prophecy, but to prove (test) all things! The public down side of such predictions is that when you get a prophecy wrong – the world will poke fun at God for what is really our mistake!
